

CARNEGIE SCIENCE

Department of Embryology

Dear Colleague,

I would be very grateful for your help in recruiting an outstanding early-career scientist for an open Staff Associate position at the Department of Embryology, Carnegie Institution for Science. For a description of the position and former Staff Associates please see: <https://emb.carnegiescience.edu/join-us/staff-associate-program>. We are located on the Johns Hopkins Homewood Campus in Baltimore, MD. Our Staff Associates are independent junior faculty members with non-renewal faculty level appointments for up to five years. They can be appointed in lieu of or after finishing a short postdoctoral fellowship. We believe accomplished early career scientists with novel ideas should be supported to build a research program with no distractions. All Staff Associates have their own designated lab and office space, and work on the bench along with others they recruit into their labs.

To apply, a current CV, 4-page research statement, and three reference letters are required. The CV and research statement can be submitted at: <https://emb.carnegiescience.edu/staff-associate-application>. Referees can submit reference letters at: <https://emb.carnegiescience.edu/staff-associate-reference-letter-form>. Consideration of applicants will begin as applications are received and will continue until we fill the position.

Please share this information with your colleagues and trainees.

Thank you for your assistance!

Sincerely,

Yixian Zheng
Director
Department of Embryology
